Working Group Documents

ARKs-in-the-Open Working Groups share the following features.

- Within its given scope, each WG is self-directed, renewing its objectives and deliverables every 12 months.
- WG members are asked to seize opportunities to "grow" the community and broaden participation in it, at any and all levels, as appropriate.
- Members are asked to communicate with other WGs and the Advisory Group regarding community evolution, technical developments, and collaboration possibilities that could help, or hurt, sustainability.
- WG size is flexible, with 5-9 members being optimal. As necessary, any WG may spin off subgroups, eg, for a focused development effort.
- WG members are asked to serve for 12 months, and may serve longer if they wish.
- Each WG is free to decide how it will conduct internal communication (email, Slack channel, etc) and to set its own meeting schedule. Meetings are usually teleconferences.
- Each WG is responsible for maintaining the WG wiki page, which should include schedules and links to agendas and meeting notes.
