Agenda

1. Updates
2. Collection Process and Curation Process. See Owl draft here: <http://bit.ly/2EDX9am>
3. Position. Is Position a form of relationship between a person and an organization? Relationship is a process (an occurrent) which can be time limited. Or is position something else? What might it be?
4. Person. Continued discussion of Early Thoughts on Representing People <http://bit.ly/31GTqD2>
5. Next meeting October 31.

Notes

1. Collection and Curation Proc
  - a. why planned process? might not be helpful
  - b. Looks okay otherwise
  - c. Can we restrict the use of the process to particular roles? We might not be able to name the roles
  - d. Will add a note that there might be class restrictions added regarding roles – the roles that inhere in a Collection Process must come from a particular set, for example. Might we be able to add a class restriction that the bearer of the role that inheres in a Collection Process must be from a particular set – a person, an organization.
2. Positions
  - a. As a process, a relationship
  - b. A pattern: person bearer_of role realized_in position realizes role inheres_in organization. The person has a role in the position. The organization has a role in the position.
  - c. But the position held by someone else? The position is "filled". Position as described above is a performance. What are they performing? Is it like the performance of a symphony? An elected office? Formal/informal? Like "goalie" in soccer? There may be two uses of the term position. One is as a relationship. The other is as an entity that can be filled and exists whether or not it is filled. Such an entity can be counted – "how many faculty positions does the department have" "how many positions are filled?"
