

Chodge5

I work with emerging technologies at the University of Tennessee (Office of Information Technology), and I am responsible for managing our campus's DSpace testbed (in tandem with our Library System). I am responsible for developing the business plan for what became our Digital Media Service here on campus. I was also a founding member of the Video Development Initiative (ViDe), serving on its Steering Committee and for several years as chair of the program committee for its annual conference.