[11:06] <birkland> can you hear me?
[11:06] <sbayliss> no!
[11:06] <barmintor> I don't believe so
[11:06] <birkland> OK.. just a minute..
[11:07] <birkland> am having audio troubles, will be on in a minute or two
[11:09] <sbayliss> http://fedora-commons.org/jira/browse/FCREPO-682
[11:14] <barmintor> FCREPO-682: Shouldn't require a SQL Db rebuild, but we may want to require one to ensure consistency. May mean this moves off 3.4 docket.
[11:16] <sbayliss> http://fedora-commons.org/jira/browse/FCREPO/fixforversion/10190?selected=com.atlassian.jira.plugin.system.project:version-popularissues-panel
[11:17] <sbayliss> http://fedora-commons.org/jira/browse/FCREPO-492
[11:25] <barmintor> FCREPO-492: Follow-up issue to be created to either provide a migration tool, or to provide a new API method
[11:28] <barmintor> possibly related to FCREPO-586, Asger looking into this again
[11:33] <sbayliss> http://fedora-commons.org/jira/browse/FCREPO-654
[11:36] * Asger (~82e11a21@gateway/web/freenode/x-wlaiwhmeskijgmvc) has joined #duraspace
[11:36] <Asger> http://fedora-commons.org/confluence/display/FCREPO/Supporting+the+Semantic+Web+and+Linked+Data
[11:40] <barmintor> FCREPO-654: Raising priority, but this may be moved off 3.4 docket if specification of REST resources cannot be agreed on [11:48] <barmintor> FCREPO-663: Need to decide on a direction, and have fcrepo developers commit to enacting this change piecemeal; not confident that non-dev users will ever rally behind this type of issue
[11:51] <barmintor> FCREPO-650: Moving priority to major; caveat that only supposed to be relevant to objects and datastreams
[11:53] * barmintor is briefly away from keyboard
