

Objects can be associated with a PREMIS event service

- Title: Objects can be associated with a PREMIS event service
- Primary Actor:
- Scope:
- Level:
- Story: An object can be associated with a listener for PREMIS events. This listener should receive event message rather than whole documents, but be able to export a log of the event history. Attempting to emulate this in Fedora 3.x requires constant replacement of an XML document, and has collision problems when integrated into a system of parallel, distributed repository processes.