

VIVO Notes 01 -- March 1, 2010

Welcome to VIVO Notes – the weekly newsletter of all things VIVO. You can find VIVO Notes archived in the VIVO Wiki at <https://confluence.cornell.edu/display/ennsrd/VIVO+Notes>

VIVO on VIVO

VIVO on VIVO is our national effort to “eat our own dog food” as they say in IT. All VIVO team members are expected to have profiles in their institution's VIVO systems. Please contact your implementation lead to find out how this is being done at your school. Information about VIVO on VIVO is available in the VIVO wiki at <https://confluence.cornell.edu/display/ennsrd/VIVO+on+VIVO+instructions>

National VIVO Conference

Planning has begun for the first annual national VIVO conference to be held August 12 and 13 at the NY Hall of Science (<http://www.nysci.org>). A mix of workshops, sessions and posters will present VIVO, VIVO applications and the national network of scientists. Stay tuned for more info.

Upcoming VIVO events

VIVO is actively reaching out across the country to engage potential partners. VIVO events in March include: March 1, VIVO and DERI conference call. March 2, VIVO and CTSA conference call. March 3, VIVO Developers meeting in Bloomington. March 4-5, NSF workshop, Bloomington. March 8, VIVO presentation to UF faculty. March 10, VIVO at SURF. March 10-12, VIVO at AMIA. March 15-16, VIVO at Science of Dissemination and Implementation. March 18-19, NIH workshop, Gainesville. March 29-April 1, Social Computing. If you are attending a VIVO event in March that is not on this list, please add your VIVO event to the wiki at: <https://confluence.cornell.edu/display/ennsrd/Conference+Planning+Calendar>.

VIVO Resources

Please take a look at the VIVO web site (www.vivoweb.org) and the VIVO Wiki (<https://confluence.cornell.edu/display/ennsrd/VIVO>). These are our primary tools for keeping up with all things VIVO – the VIVO web site manages external communications and the VIVO wiki manages internal communications. In particular, you'll want to subscribe to the VIVO blog (<http://www.vivoweb.org/blog>). If you use Facebook, you'll want to become a fan of VIVO (<http://www.facebook.com/VIVOCollaboration>).

Subscriptions

If you have received this email in error, please contact Alicia Turner (aliciatu@ufl.edu) and she will remove you from the VIVO team mailing list. If you know a VIVO team mate that did not receive this email, please contact Alicia and she will be happy to add them to the mailing list.

Ideas, Questions, Comments

Have an idea, question, or comment about VIVO? Pass along your thoughts to your team lead for inclusion in the wiki!