Updates

- Stony Brook
  - how to share common vocabularies – how to collaborate on this and where to host/store the data
  - Jon suggesting extending a service like the UMLS service built at Stony Brook – does such a list exist; if not, where would be put it; how would you access it
  - According to <http://www.ibm.com/developerworks/library/wa-datasets/> the British government posted research funding datasets online as RDF data. Tammy is currently checking to see if the US has posted any such data.
- Florida
  - Updated to VIVO 1.5.1, but having re-index errors and mailing list thread hasn't been resolved... discussed on call... possible root cause is bad data in MySQL evidenced by repeated errors in logs...
- Weill
  - Cleaning up the publication data
  - Working to improve performance. Plan on increasing the database cache. So far we have increased the MySQL Query_cache_size to 64M. Do we need more? What's the cache size for other sites?
  - Matt at UF: were looking at query_cache_size also – what is optimal (versus restarting Tomcat)?
  - Tammy: Running the MySQLTuner script on our system, made the recommendation "Variables to adjust: query_cache_size (> 32M)". (Note that everybody's system may be different.)
- UCSF
  - Updating to VIVO-compatible version of Profiles, but converting data is time consuming
- Duke
  - Available on campus
  - Loading pub data in batches using Elements, faculty can edit changes and trigger individual refreshes from VIVO
- Cornell
  - Jim working on building a non-Tomcat specific .WAR file, supporting both VIVO and Solr web apps
  - DataStaR user interface test results being reviewed, also see <http://datastar-test.library.cornell.edu/datastarimls/>
- Colorado
  - Minor release v1.1 of third tier build, releasing to v1.5.1 UCCS in production also new data with modified ingest Selenium script
- Penn
  - concerns about performance issues when there's a lot of simultaneous editing, which might have been addressed by Tim at Brown – try to get an update on this
- NYU –
- Johns Hopkins –
- Indiana --

Community approach to discussing new ideas

- Mailing list versus weekly calls versus Wiki versus JIRA versus IdeaScale (also GitHub repos, Issues, wikis, etc)
  - Discuss ideas on mailing list and weekly calls?
  - Todos and tasks on JIRA?
  - Capture notes and research on wiki?
  - Use IdeaScale's voting to prioritize? (you can also vote in JIRA)
- What path is available if you have a problem, and can start working on the solution? Is there a shortcut to contributing?
