Integrations - integrating with third party document streaming services

Title (Goal)	people should be able to view document without having to download them immediately
Primary Actor	System
Scope
Level
Story (A paragraph or two describing what happens)	When Steve want to view an article he is interested in, he does not have to download it. Instead the file is shown to him directly in DSpace by a document streamer. This streamer is not part of DSpace itself, it is merely an integration of third party document streamers into the repository.