Announcements

- Apps & Tools Working Group: next call January 27 at 1pm ET
  - Changing to a new format to lower the cost of sharing: instead of a single presentation, will be hosting multiple short talks per call of 7 to 10 minutes plus some time for questions
- Ontology Working Group: next call February 10 at 1pm ET
  - Topic TBD
- 2015 VIVO Implementation Fest: to be hosted March 16-17 (optional activity on 18th) by Oregon Health and Science University in Portland
  - Official announcement at http://vivoweb.org/blog/2015/01/announcing-2015-vivo-implementation-fest
  - Likely to have some in-depth focus on ontology given local expertise, and still open to input on other topics/themes or hosting a hackathon
- The Boston Area MarkLogic User's Group is having a Semantics in Theory and Practice event in Waltham, MA from 5:30-7:30 pm on Tuesday, January 27th and would like to get maximum exposure

  - MarkLogic is a company that has relatively recently started offering triple store technologies to complement XML and NoSQL
  - MarkLogic triple store technology is being used by the Library of Congress and other large organizations
  - There will be 2 presenters:

    - Stephen Buxton, Product Manager for Search and Semantics at Marklogic, leads us in a high-level conversation on semantic triples, what they can do, how they work with other data types and how that might impact your organization.
    - Beverly Jamison, Sr. Director of IT Architecture at American Psychological Association (and a colleague of Hal Warren), to discuss industry-specific semantics issues, how her organization uses semantics and the process of getting where they are today
- Next call in this series will be Thursday, January 29
