VIVO - Fedora - Ingest into Repository

This use case represents a flow where faculty interact directly with a Fedora repository front-end, uploading publications. The uploaded publications would trigger a messaging event from Fedora 4 that would be consumed by a message listener (such as the fcrepo-camel-toolbox), and result in an update to VIVO via its HTTP API.