Notes

JIRA

- Mike has been through all of them twice - trying to figure out if they are relevant, should they be open
- Every issue has been put into a component - e.g. everything related to Solr is in the "solr" component
- Several components have been added - data management (e.g. creating sample files, SPARQL queries, etc.), developer support (improving development tooling),
- Mike wants to combine some components - e.g. custom forms, N3 editing
- All priorities that were "blocker" have been reclassified.
- Redundant components - bug fixes (should use the JIRA type), documentation (use type)
- Version - "post 1.8.1" needs to be removed, reclassify to proper version targets (135 issues affected).
- Removing assignees - many are historical
- Components - remove leads.  We can come back to this idea in the future

VIVO 1.10

- Release candidate before the conference, release after the conference
- Only blocking issue currently is the ORCiD API v2 upgrade

RDF/RDFS ontologies

- We want to be able to use ontologies without having to change them.  Currently, VIVO/Vitro requires that ontologies indicate which properties are owl:DataProperty and which are owl:ObjectProperty.  If an ontology does not have these assertions, they have been added in the VIVO implementations of these ontologies.
- And we currently add application control ontology assertions to indicate how we would like ontology elements handled.
- bibframe, etc.
- Skos, DCTERMS
- Defined as RDF classes/properties not OWL classes/properties
- Workaround - add OWL classes and properties
- Brian Lowe - at the time, Jena relied on OWL
- Can the software do something reasonable when a property is neither owl:DataProperty nor owl:Object Property?

Action Items

- Contact each component lead and ask them if they wish to continue/ mind being removed.  Mike Conlon
- Combine Custom Forms and N3 Editing Framework as "Custom Forms" Mike Conlon
- Remove Bug Fixes component.  Use Bug type. Mike Conlon
- Remove Documentation component.  Use Documentation type Mike Conlon
- Remove "post 1.8.1" version.  Assign to versions if the work is being done in that version.  Blank if no version.  Mike Conlon
- Combine Page Mgt Framework and Freemarker Template Framework.  Result is called "Freemarker Template Framework" Mike Conlon
- Add descriptions to each component Mike Conlon
